

JDMC-IQAC Centre for Extension and Outreach Activities Community First Initiative

Helping Hands

This is an initiative that began in covid-19 pandemic to reach out to the disadvantaged/ underprivileged people in the community. The faculty and students are actively involved in reaching out to the needy by trying to meet their essential needs of daily life by donating ration, medicines, eatables and other essential resources.

The department also supported them by providing emotional support (listening and talking to them and trying to understand their problems) and enriching their education through online teaching. School children who were lagging behind due to lack of access to digital technology were taught by the students of the department.
